Architectural & Construction Processes and Vocabulary

This workshop will guide you through the eyes of a nationally honored Architect to learn of the specialists required for a typical project. With the new Deaf Senior Housing Project as the example, you will learn the six phases of architectural work, from meeting a new client to construction completion and occupancy of a building and the related terminology.

Thomas J. Posedly, FAIA

Who is responsible for Effective Communication?

This workshop will assist the interpreter in a cognitive-behavioral therapy session, recognize multiple meanings in signs and words, practice skills in detecting flawed filter systems and effective multiphasic communication.

Howard Busby, PhD

To register for the workshop, please call VCD to pay with a credit card, or you can mail a check (payable to Valley Center of the Deaf)
